WAGES OF LABOR IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES.

The British foreign secretary has recently collected through the English consuls of various countries the price of labor and the number of hours employed every day. The following is a synopsis of the information:

In the British reports we have referred to we find details and thorough information as to the condition of the laboring classes in the countries of Europe, as well as in a large portion of Asia and North and South America. The statistics as to the wages and hours of labor are of great interest.

In Austria the average wages of the agricultural labor are reported as only twenty to thirty dollars a year. (We reduce the currency of the various countries to American money in each case as most simple and convenient.) Wages of mechanics vary from 40c (the minimum) to $1.50 (the maximum) per day. A good journeyman shoemaker makes as much as two florins (80c) a day. Weavers make only 70c a day. Iron workers and smiths do better, earning from 90c to $1.40 a day. Builders are in great demand in Vienna, yet head workmen receive only 70c a day. Printers and type founders number at Vienna about two thousand workmen and seven hundred to eight hundred apprentices. Average wages of type-setters $1.25 per day of ten hours. In most of the other trades the hours of labor are twelve a day.

Charles Lever (the novelist), now British Consul at Trieste, report the hours of labor to be ten per day, and the wages of ordinary mechanics vary from fifty cents to one dollar, and sometimes $1.25 per day.

In Belgium, wages are greatly lower than in England, and even below the average of Bontinental Europe. The wages of workmen living in the country vary from 30 cents to 40 cents per day. In manufacturing districts they are higher, averaging 60 cents. The hours of labor are twevle.

Wages in France are so far as developed in this report, the rates paid in Paris, where the rates of compensation for labor have risen over 25 per cent within a year. Blacksmiths receive from 60c to $1.60, daily wages; bakers get only 45c to $1; boot and shoemakers $1 to $1.20; carpenters $1 20—working twelve hours. Dressmakers only 30 to 60 cents for unskilled laborers, and $1 10 for skilled ones; house-painters $1.20, and printers $1 to $1.20 for day working, or 10 to 12 cents the 1,000 letters for piece workmen.

In the French departments, the wages of the skilled mechanics vary from 80 cents to $1 50. Agricultural laborers receive from 50 to 62 cents.

In Denmark, bricklayers, carpenters, &c., receive 60 to 75 cents for a day's work. Weavers and other manufacturing hands, 67 to 75 cents; painters about the same, and shoemakers only 55 cents a day.

In the Kingdom of Italy skilled mechanics receive 30 to 60 cents per day of eleven hours. More ordinary workmen 20 to 40 cents. Printers receive only from 20 to 60 cents per day, according to their skill and experience at their profession.

In Sicily, laborers employed in railway construction and road making receive from 20 to 35 cents per day, the working hours being from sunrise to sunset.

In the Netherlands factory laborers get from 30 cents to $1 per day, the hours of labor being eleven or twelve.

In Norway agricultural laborers receive from $1 25 to $1.75 per week, or an average of less than 25 cents per day. In woolen and cotton mills the wages are better, and reach from 25 to 60 cents per day, according to skill. Printers, type founders, and book-binders' wages are stated at from 50 to 80 cents per day. Ten hours is considered a day's work. Farm laborers receive only 6 to 8 cents a day and board.

In Portugal field laborers receive 15 to 22 cents per day. Skilled mechanical labor is paid from 15 to 50 cents a day.

In Prussia common manual labor in agriculture is paid from 18 to 25 cents per day. The hours are 12 to 13 in summer, and 8 in winter. In the manufacturing districts the hours of labor 11 to 12, being sometimes as low as 10, but more frequently above 12. The price of skilled labor varies from 30 to 55 cents per day.

In Russia agricultural laborers receive an average compensation of sixty-five cents per day, which, however, has to keep them in holidays, and these "dies non" are in Russia more numerous than any other part of the world, numbering, with Sundays, 163 days, and leading only 202 working days in the year. Most of the respectable Russian workmen say that if they could work six days in the week, they would be satisfied with half the present rate of wages. Skilled laborers in the various trades get from 50 to 90 cents per day, subject to these outrageous limitation of holidays counted out.

In Sweden, the laborer's condition is not flattering. The averages of an artisan in Stockholm, and other large Swedish towns, are equal to fifty cents per day. In the case of skilled workmen, occupying the position of foremen they sometimes reach as high as one dollar per day.

Switzerland is full of industry from one end of the country to the other. Cotton, flax and woolen factories pay their operatives thirty to eighty cents. Printers get forty-five to eighty cents, and lithographers (which class of artisans abound in Switerland), fifty cents to eighty cents for each day's work.

While we were having a protracted drouth some weeks ago other parts of the world were visited by tremendous floods. In Italy the heavy rains so swelled the streams and lakes as to produce serious disasters. At the last advices communication between Milan and Venice by railway was entirely suspended, bridges had been carried away by the freshets in all directions, and the Simplon road was entirely impracticable. The Po has swept away the dyke that protected the plain on the right bank of the stream at Ferrara, and the whole neighboring country was under water. Pallanza was inundated, Arona entirely cut off from the surrounding districts, and at St Lunio the water had invaded the first stories of the houses. Near the lake of Camo the inhabitants had been obliged to abandon their homes in a body, and the greatest terror and confusion prevailed. Meanwhile the Indian cyclone of which we heard by telegraph has done vast mischief. The effects were bad enough at Madras, but at Vellore they were especially disastrous. In the latter place one thousand lives were lost, two thousand people left houseless, and three thousand more left destitute. The immediate cause of these calamities was the bursting of the large irrigation tanks, which are situated on high ground a few miles out of Vellore. These are all connected, and it is said that the higher tank burst first and brought down all the others like a pack of cards. Altogether forty tanks burst in the neighborhood. If weather wise people could only foresee troubles like these, the world would be spared infinite suffering and mortality.

NEW USE FOR CATS.

A correspondent of the Land and Water writes: "It often appeared to me that people for the most part are not aware of the great use cats are to us. Of course, we know their use with regard to rats and mice, but do we generally know of the invaluable help they can give us in protecting from birds our garden fruit and flowers? The late heavy rains this spring have given us the promise of abundance of strawberries, and in the south, at least, the bloom is magnificent. To keep off the birds, how simple, how certain is the cost of a cat on a small chain sliding on a wire, and giving the animal a walk up and down the whole length of the strawberry beds. A knot at each end of the wire, really prevents the cat from twisting round the post, which supports the wire, and a small kennel placed in the middle of the walk, affords her shelter and a home for her kittens. In large gardens a second cat is required, and the young ones in their frequent visits to each other, greatly assist in scaring away the birds. I have for more than thirty years used cats, and seen used with perfect success, this easy mode of protecting fruit, and the very same plan is equally good in keeping hares and rabbits off flower beds. After the first few days cats in no way will dislike the restraint, and when set free, after a few weeks watching, they will of their own accord become the gardener's best allies."

A HEN.

A hen is a darn phool, they waz born so bi natur.

I hav seen a hen fly out ov a good warm shelter, on the 15th ov January, when the snow was 3 foot high, and lite on a stun wall, and coolly set thare, and freeze tew deth.

The principal business ov an able boddyed hen is tew lay eggs, and when she has laid 36 ov them, then she iz ordained to set still on them until they are born, this is the way yung hens fust see life.

There is one thing about a hen that looks like wisdum; they don't kackle much until after they hav laid their eggs. Sum phoiks are alwus a bragging and a cackling what they are a going to do beforehand.

A hen will set on one egg just as she will set on 36 eggs, but a hen with one chicken is alwus a painful sight tew me. One egg, per diem, is all that a hen ought to lay, espeshily a nu be ginner.

There are a grate many breeds of hens just now, but the old fashioned speckled hen breed is the most flatteering.

After they hav laid an egg they aint afraid to say so, and kan out kackle all other breeds ov hens, and when you come tew scratchen up a garden, they are with tew ov enny other kind.

I don't kno ov enny sight that pleases me more than tew see an old speckled hen cum spluttering oph from her nest and pitch feet stak into a new made garden.—Josh Billings.

POISONOUS NATURE OF TOBACCO.

Tobacco in its ordinary state—the plug which you have in your pockets here to-night—is a powerful poison. It will do what few other poisons will do. I do not now speak of the oil of tobacco. I do not speak of nicotine, a single drop of which put upon the tongue of a cat will kill her in two minutes, three drops of which put upon the tongue of a bulldog will kill him so quick that he will hardly get out of your arms in his struggles, and ten crops will kill a cow in ten minutes. I am not talking of these things at all, although they are all in tobacco, but to-night I am talking of tobacco in the form of the original plug.

Now, gentlemen, let me suppose an experiment. I call from this audience a boy ten years old, one who has never used tobacco. Charles, will you help me make an experiment here to-night.

"Yes, sir.

"I will give you fifty dollars if you will go through it like a plucky man."

"I will, sir.

"The experiment is this. There is a piece of tobacco as large as a pea. Put that in your mouth, chew it, don't let a drop go down your throat, spit every drop into that spittoon; but keep on chewing; don't stop, just chew steadily."

Before he is done with that piece of tobacco as large as a pea, simply squeezing the juice out of it without swallowing a drop, he lies here upon the platform in a cold death like perspiration; he vomits the contents of his stomach; put your fingers upon his wrist, there is no pulse; and so he seems for two or three hours as though he were dying, or, perchance, dead.

Steep a small piece of tobacco in a quart of water, and then bathe the neck or back of a calf that may be troubled with vermin. You will kill the vermin, but if you are not careful you will kill the calf too.

Now, gentlemen, go to your drug stores, begin with the upper shelves and take down every bottle, and then open every drawer, and you cannot find a single poison (except some very rare ones which you never heard of) which, taken into the mouth of that ten year old boy, and not swallowed, will produce those effects. Tobacco, then, I repeat, in its ordinary state is an extremely powerful poison.—Dr. Dio Lewis.

The following conversation between a young lady who wrote for magazines and an old gentleman who believed he could speak English, occurred somewhere in Massachusetts, and is quoted for the benefit of grammarians:

Old Gentleman—"Are there any houses building in your village?"

Young Lady—"No, sir. There is a new house being built for Mr. Smith, but it is the carpenters who are building."

Gentleman—"True, I sit corrected. To be building is certainly a different thing from to being built. And how long has Mr. Smith's house been being built?"

Lady (looks puzzled a moment, and then answers rather abruptly)—"Nearly a year."

Gentleman—"How much longer do you think it will be being built."

Lady (explosively)—"Don't know."

Gentleman—"I should think Mr. Smith would be annoyed by its so long being built, for the house he now occupies being old he must leave it, and the new one being only being built, instead of being built as he expected, he cannot——"

Here the gentleman perceived that the lady had disappeared.

TWO THOUSAND MILES OF ICE.

A letter from St. Johns, Newfoundland, in the Evening Post, gives the following description of the unprecedented fields of ice.

Since early in January enormous fields of ice, sometimes 200 miles in breadth, have been passing these shores in almost a continuous stream. The thickness of this field ice is from twenty to thirty feet. The distance between Baffin's Bay, where the field-ice is formed, and the waters of the Gulf Stream, where the masses are dissolved, is from 1,500 to 2,000 miles. It may be affirmed without any exaggeration, that a river of ice, varying from 50 to 200 miles in breadth, and 2,000 miles in length, has been for three months pouring incessantly its contents into the tepid waters of the Gulf Stream. The winter has been fearfully severe, and the quantity and thickness of the ice unprecedented. The consequences to our seal fishery, have been ruinous. During nearly the whole of March and part of April, northeast winds prevailed, by which this huge stream of ice was deflected on to our shores in a pack, filling every bay, harbor, and inlet, with masses of ice, and completely blockading the whole coast, with the exceptions of a few intervals, when the west winds loosened the "pack" and drove it out to sea. The enormous quantity of ice which is carried in this way from the polar regions to warmer temperatures, no arithmetic could calculate.

A friend who did the Colorado mountains last fall, informed us that he got as ravenous as a raven among the ravines, and sat down in one of the gorgeous gorges and gorged himself.

GLASS

The Scientific American says: Nothing is known to a certainty regarding the invention and early history of glass, but it is supposed that as volcanic lavas often cool into rude crystals, the ancients were induced to imitate them, and so became masters of the art. The name glass is derived from an old German work, signifying to shine or glisten. That the Egyptians understood the manufacture of glass at an early period is proved by relics found with mummies more than three thousand years old, among which are richly carved vases and urns, paintings on glass, and artificial gems, in which amethysts, emeralds and other precious stones are imitated so successfully as to deceive the practiced eye. For many years in ancient times, glass was applied to ornamental purposes only, and much ingenuity and skill were exercised to find substitutes for the useful purposes for which we now employ it. For windows the inhabitants of eastern countries used linen and paper rendered transparent by being soaked in oil; the Chinese shaved horn, split oyster shells; the wealthy Romans thin sheets of agate or mica. Among the Esquimaux of our day large blocks of ice are inserted in their snow huts to admit the light. In the fourth century glazed windows were introduced into houses, and justly considered a great luxury; before the invention of glass mirrors, plates of highly polished metal were used, specimens of which are still preserved in many families as heirlooms. The rich wines of antiquity were kept in tanned pouches and quaffed from the horns of animals or rough stone cups; as the art of glass making became more generally understood it was applied to useful articles, and these rude utensils gradually disappeared. In a liquid state glass can be blown or wrought into almost any form or shape, from the landscapes enclosed in paper weights to the dresses composed of threads as fine as spider's web. Without the aid of glass the investigations of science could not have been pursued—as the telescope, microscope and all other optical instruments, as well as the thermometer and barometer, depend entirely upon it for their various uses. To no other invention are we more indebted, both for luxury and utility, than glass.

New Orleans has a sensation at last—one which cities of cooler blood are exempt from. Some evenings ago the daughter of a prominent and wealthy citizen, after closing and fastening all the doors and windows, went into the dining room for some water, and while bending over the sideboard, saw reflected in the glass a figure right behind her. Turning quickly, she saw the tall slender figure of a woman clothed in black, with one hand on the table and the other in her bosom. The frightened girl, with a show of courage, took a few steps forward, and asked: "Who are you?" "Who am I? This—this is who I am," answered the woman, coming to the young girl in a few rapid strides, quickly drawing the hand heretofore concealed in her bosom. She held up a small glittering knife. "Look, this is who I am. But no, 'tis no use—you are to die so soon." Then this woman drew back the bolts from the long window shutter, stepped out and was gone. As soon as the almost paralyzed girl could move, she rushed to her brother and threw herself senseless at his feet. Since then she has been dangerously ill, and fully believes she will die. No clue to the mysterious woman can be obtained, and only the knife has been found.

A correspondent of the New York Times says he has seen pleas for all sorts of animals and for poor people, and he wants to put in a plea for rich children. He says: I have been a witness in seeing nurses beat, and shake, and bounce them on the stone steps of stoops until they screamed with pain, and the nurses would talk and reason with them as though they were old folks. I suppose these children must have mothers, but where are they? I suppose shopping. Why not hire the cruel girls to go shopping, and the mothers stay with the little children till they get big enough to strike back, or to tell mother that nurse beats them? If the mothers would do as I write, they would save the little dears a good many black and blue marks that their mothers never see.

ODE TO AN OX.

An ode written by the greatest of American poets to the greatest American ox, and composed while standing within two feet of him and touchin him now and then: "All hale, thou mity animal, all hale! Yu are four thousand pounds and am purty well proportioned, thou tremendous nugget! Tu all probability you don't no yer enny bigger than a small kaff, fur if you did yud break down fenses, and switch yure tale, and rush around, and beller, and run over folks, thou awful beest! Oh, what a lot of mince pize yud make, and sassengers and yure tale, which kant wa fur from shorty pounds, wud mask nigh unto a barrill of ox tail soop. And ondn't a heap of stakes be cut oph you, which, with salt and pepper, wudn't be bad to talk? Thou great and glorious inskt."

A CAVE UNDER ST. PAUL.

The St. Paul Dispatch of a late date says: This morning while a number of workmen were engaged in making an excavation in the rear of Presley & Kemp's warehouses on Second street, they broke into a cave which appeared to be partially filled at the mouth with a lot of sand and boulders. After the dust had cleared away, Mr. Butler and another gentleman jumped in and proceeded a short distance, but the descent becoming exceedingly steep and the darkness intense, they were afraid to go any further. A short distance from the mouth of the cave—at least the present mouth—the antlers of a large stag were discovered, which were brought up and deposited on the bank. It is quite evident, from the downward bend of the ground that the cave must extend under the city to a considerable depth, but for what distance, until further explorations are made it is impossible, of course, to determine.

Little doubt now exists that the Colorado Desert was once the bed of a sea. Careful instrumental observations have lately been made which seem to establish the fact beyond doubt. Between the San Gorgonio Pass and the San Diego and fort Yuma wagon road, a distance of fifty miles, the surface is far below San Francisco bay, and other parts of the desert are three hundred feet below the level of the Pacific beyond the Golden Gate. On the rocks and sides of the mountains a great many signs have been discovered, such as are held to be confirmatory of this theory of former submission, and it is now accepted as a fact by the best informed scientists. Hence it would appear that, either through gradual exhaustion of the sources of water supply, or through some sudden natural convulsion, the heart of the continent, once occupied by a vast expanse of water, has been drained, within a comparatively short space of time and changed to dry land.

Two miles north-east of Walnut Hill, Randolph county, Arkansas, may be seen a wonderful work of nature. Amid one of the most wild, rugged spots there rear, heavenward a couple of rock walls, two hundred feet high and say a quarter of a mile long, between and at the upper end of which there arises a deep, cold clear spring, forming a branch which runs through the chasm between the walls. Two hundred, yards below the spring is a cave ten feet in diameter at the mouth, depth unknown, penetrating one of the above walls half between top and bottom. Fifty yards below is another cave, making into its wall at its base. Centrally between the walls arises a rock pillar, from the top of which springs a solitary cedar—no other vegetation. Beyond a mere glance from their entrance, no explorations have been made of these caverns, In the early settlement of the country they were much inhabited by ravens, hence the name "Raven Den."

To test the quality of wool, a Texas paper says: Take a lock of wool from a sheep's back and place it upon an inch rule. If you can count from it thirty three spirals or folds in the space of an inch; it equals in quality the finest electorial of Saxony wool grown. Of course when the number of spirals to the inch diminishes, the quality of wool is relatively inferior. Many tests have been tried, but this is considered the simplest and the best. Cotswold wool and some other inferior wools do not measure nine spirals to the inch. With this test, every farmer has in his possession a knowledge which will enable him to form a correct judgement of all this kind of wool. There are some coarse wools which experienced wool growers do not rank as wool, but as hair, on account of the hardness and straightnes of the fibre."

On the first of October the people of the United States will experience something of the sense of fredom which their Revolutionary forefathers felt when "the odious stamp tax" was abolished; for on that day the stamp duties on all business papers and legal documents, save bank checks, will be removed. Contracts, affidavits, bills, receipts, notes, conveyances, policies, writs, warrants, deeds, mortgages, powers of attorney and all such documents will be free from this perplexing restriction—a consummation devoutly to be wished.

At Lynn, Mass., all comparisons are based upon shoe leather. A cobbler having applied for admission to an Orthodox church at that place, the deacons held a consultation over the candidate. Says one deacon to another: "Well, deacon, Bob G—— wants to join our meeting." "Yes; do you know anything against him?" "Well, no. But before you take a final vote on him, I'd just like to show you a job of cobbling he did for me, that's all."

Everything in life has a right side and a wrong side. You can take any joy, and by turning it around, find troubles on the other side; or, you may take the greatest trouble, and by turning it around, find joys on the other side. The gloomiest mountain never casts a shadow on both sides at once, nor does the greatest of life's calamities.

The following ludicrous sentence is the result of a compositor's erroneous punctuation: "Cæsar entered upon his head, his helmet upon his feet, armed sandals upon his brow, a cloud in his right hand, his faithful sword in his eyes, an angry glance."

"What can be more harrowing to your soul than the thought of wasted opportunities?" asked a teacher of a bright boy. "A peg in my boot harrows my sole more'n anything else," replied the bright boy.

Vice President,

For Congress,
L. D. WOODWORTH.

Republican State Ticket.

Secretary of State,
ALLEN T. WIKOFF.
Supreme Judge,
JOHN WELCH.
Board of Public Works,
RICHARD R. PORTER.

At the congressional convention which assembled at Alliance on the 25th ult. there was a full attendance of delegates from all the counties of the 17th district. And when that body assembled in the opera house the hall was filled with people, as much interest was felt in the result by all parties. At the ballotings indicated the delegates voted as follows:

	1 t.	8th.	16th.	25th.	41st.
Hunter,	13	18	21	24½	17
Bruff,	23	25	22	21	17
Wales,	27	27	26	24	1
Underhill,	35	35	35	34	34
Woodworth,	37	36	36	36½	72
	141	141	141	140	141

We don't give all the ballotings, but enough are presented to show that some changes were being made every time, though most of the candidates held their own until the last count, when it looks as if a large portion of the Wales delegates, some eight or ten of the Bruff men, and one or two others changed to Woodworth, thus giving him the requisite number for nomination. In this result no doubt some of our men were disappointed, but such results are incident to all elections. Among leading party men this generally makes no difference when the regular time for election comes, as all are found working together. Mr. Woodworth was called on, made acquainted with the result, and responded in a brief and appropriate speech By those acquainted with the nominee he is represented as a very worthy and competent man, although yet comparatively young. He has been in the Ohio legislature several sessions, so is not without experience in the business of making laws.

Judge David Davis, who was nominated last February, at Columbus, for the presidency, by a convention of labor reformers, has, after five months cogitation declined to accept the honor

Last week the Ohio state democratic convention was held at Cleveland, and the biggest thing they did was to recommend the nomination of Mr. Greeley at the Baltimore convention. Sold again, but not got the offices. Gen Wiley was nominated for secretary of state. J. L. Green for judge of supreme court, and J. B. Riley for board of public works—all democrats.

Judge Riddle of Wellsville, was chosen presidential elector for the seventeenth Ohio congressional district, at the republican nominating convention held at Alliance on the 26th ult

The New York World (democratic) has been lately publishing liberal extracts from the Tribune, in which Mr. Greeley don't flatter the democracy. Now if somebody who has the files would publish what the democratic papers have said of Mr. G the account would be pretty well cancelled. Yet the democracy is to go for Greeley. Benton once said of another political scheme the object of which was to lead to conciliation, "It is a hell of a harmony." This new coalition is a mixture of a somewhat similar character. Here is a specimen from the Tribune, Oct 11, 1862.

"If there were not a newsbaper or common school in the country, the democratic party would be far stronger than it is. Neither elementary instruction nor knowledge of transpiring events is necessary to teach the essential articles of the democratic creed: "Love rum and hate niggers,' The less one learns and knows the more certain he is to vote the reglar ticket from A to Izzard.

But republicanism rests on a radically different basis, and is sustained by a wholly diverse consideration. It lives by intelligence, it dies in the murky, stifling atmosphere of ignorance. Canvass almost any township in the land, and disunguish those who take and those who fail to take a newspaper, and you will find that two-thirds of those who take vote republican, while three-fourths of those who read nothing but a chance paper, picked up for a few minutes in a bar room vote democratic ticket, and will not be persuaded to touch any other."

Another destructive fire occurred at Akron on the 28th ult., by which losses estimated at $23,000 to $25,000 was sustained by the burning of the brick block of Gasaner of Cleveland and Abel of Akron. The telegram reads as if the Beacon office again suffered by the fire, but it is hoped this is not the case

Those formidable strikes which have been agitating the people of New York for many days are almost or quite terminated. Most of the strikers have resumed work with probably very slight if any increase of wages, but a great loss of time.

Another national convention of free traders is talked of to be held on the first of September.

On Tuesday of next week Greeley's nomination is to be ratified by the Baltimore democratic convention.

Fashions for July, heaps of fans and considerable of ices.

The trial of Stokes for the murder of Fisk is now in progress before a New York tribunal. The dailies are filled with details.

The ordinary weekly revolutions are going on in Mexico.

Cuba is also engaged in the revolution business. Those mettlesom Spaniards seem to enjoy a fight as much as the Irish people are said to relish Donnybrook fair.

Another whisky shooting affray took place at Pittsburgh last Saturday afternoon—one man badly wounded. These things are now daily occurrences.

Although republican voters in this vicinity were principally divided between Mr. Wales and Mr. Underhill, still there some of us who faorved Mr. Hunter. As the nominating convention selected another man, who, we think, is a very good one, we all go for him—let the past be forgotten.

In our clumsy way of making presidents, via, electors the next electoral college will have 366 votes. Can Mr. Greeley get 184 of them? Very doubtful. In the house of representatives there will be 292 members, (9 being added by the late apportionment,) and 74 senators, making the senate and house 366.

There is not much argument in a bet, but the papers say that there is a moneyed man over in New York who proposes to put up $100,000 against $10,000 that Grant will be re-elected. By the last accounts nobody has accepted the offer.

Losses to strikers and employers in New York, according to the Tribune, have amounted to nearly $3,000,000. It is a very questionable and unprofitable business.

The presidential tickets now in the field may be set down as follows: U S. Grant for pres., Henry Wilson for vice pres. Liberal-democratic-Cincinnati—H. Greeley ticket, Horace Greeley for pres., B. G. Brown, vice pres James Black, for pres., and John Russell, vice pres., temperance. Three or four more are enumerated, but probably they won't live tili the election.

The Cincinnati Enquirer states that the keynote of the election has been sounded. By the time this sound ends in November next in all probability, it will be seen that B flat is that key note to Mr Greeley and the democrats, who will be beaten with a big B.

It has been finally agreed between the contracting parties at Geneva, where the Alabama claims are under consideration, that the indirect claims of Americans be ruled out. Perhaps it is all right, but the liberal—or may be illiberal—republicans and democrats are makfng a terrible fuss about it. The president has to bear all the blame.

According to the Wellington Enterprise it is ascertained that for some weeks about fifty tuns of cheese a week are shipped from that place, mostly to eastern and western markets.

By many it will be remembered that in the presidential campaign of 1864 and 1868 a very lively paper called Father Abraham, was published at Lancaster, Pa. In addition to its lively English contents weekly letters appeared from Pit Schweffelbrenner, who used what is called Pennsylvania Dutch in which to express his ideas J. D Pyott is editor and publisher—terms 75 cents. The following article we understand, to be for Grant rather than Greeley;

TEXAS PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

There are several Pennsylvanians in this company. Thomas A Scott is president, and in the Board of directors we note the names of J. N. McCullough, J. McManns, J. W. Forney and General George W. Cass.

Col Forney, writing at Shreveport, La., sketches this railroad project, and thus alludes to the chief manager:

"Its magnftude is almost beyoud comprehension: its prosecution and completion worthy of the loftiest ambition. Needless for me to say that our young and daring leader looks to no pecuniary reward, that he has already secured. He now aspires to the higher object of reuniting north and south in the bonds of increasing commerce and lasting peace

How mysterious are the ways of Providence! A little more than twenty years ago, when Thomas A. Scott was a humble subordinate in the employ of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, Jefferson Davis was a senator in congress from Mississippi, and Franklin Pierce a candidate for president, Scott voted for Pierce, and the latter, elected in November, 1852, made Jefferson Davis his secretary of war, March 4, 1853. One of the first steps of the latter was to order a survey of the territories to find out the best route for a railroad to the Pacific. Four reports were made by the ablest of our engineers, which he sent to congress ably supported in one of his best papers. The war made by himself and a few reckless men postponed all work on the route over the thirty second parallel, which was the favorite route of Davis, but did not stop the speedy construction of that now known as the Union Pacific by northern enterprise even when Davis was forcing the people of the south to fight against their country. And now, just at the moment these same people are prostrated by the results of their rebellion, and when they are looking forward for one brave, strong and sympathetic heart to help them out of the gloom, Col. Scott steps forward in the fifty first year of his age, and accepts the trust, which for that rebellion, would have been long ago discharged by other hands."

Honest, bluff old Ben Wade wants to know who has done more for his country than Gen. Grant, and asks, "when was the country more prosperous in every department than now? Look at the reduction of the taxes and the public debt at the same time, and then tell me, grumbler, of what you have to complain. Where is the man, since Washington, who has rendered greater or better service to the republic than Gen. Grant? Name him, if he is to be fonnd, and I will help to make him president. But if no such man is to be found, then I am for Grant against the world."

At the National Agricultural Convention, held at St. Louis, Mo., a resolution was offered and referred to a committee, asking congress to retain six sections of forest in each township of the public domain, for the purpose of producing the necessary fall of rain. Also, to memoralize Congress to raise the rank of commissioner of agriculture to that of a cabinet officer, and the department of agriculture to be requested to scatter its statistics broadcast over the land. The next convention will be held at Indianapolis, Ind.

This is to be put in the democratic pipe to be smoked at leisure, and Ben Wade furnishes the weed: "By adopting Mr. Greeley as their standard bearer, the democrats deliberately admit —if they are honest—that the poorest, weakest, most vascillating and uncertain republican, is an improvement on anything to be found in their own party."

DR. FISHBLATT

Will arive at the

AMERICAN HOUSE,

MASSILLON, O.

On Wednesday, August 21st,

WILL REMAIN FOUR DAYS,

Where he can be consulted on,

Diseases of the Kidneys

AND

Diseases of the Bladder

Such as Stricture, Weakness and General Debility.

DR. FISHBLATT

Has discovered the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedy in the world for weakness in the back or limbs, strictures, affections of the kidneys or bladder, involuntary emissions, impotency, general debility, nervousness, dyspepsia, languor, low spirits, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight or giddiness, disease of the head, throat or skin, affections of the lungs, liver, stomach, or bowels, those terrible disorders arising from solitary habits of youth—secret and solitary practices, more fatal to victims than the song of the syrens to the mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes and and anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN,

especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening senates with the thunderings of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence,

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or young men and ladies contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, especially cured. He who places himself under the care of Dr Fishblatt, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentle man, and confidently rely on his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately cured, and full vigor restored. Distressing affliction, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgence. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is sooner lost by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Beside being deprived of the pleasure of healthy off pring the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dys, epsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, and wasting of the frame, cough, consumption, decay and early death.

Dr Fishblatt graduated from one of the most eminent colleges in the United States; has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr Fishblatt addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the breast, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, symptoms of consumption, derangement of the digestive functions, &c

MENTALLY—The effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forboding, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both body and mind, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man the hope of the country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must before contemplating

Reflect, that a sound body and mind are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospects hourly darken to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of many years, having within that time treated over nine thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness. To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my most matured appreciation of its value, based upon actual and witnessed realities. As a close observer, I have while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning jewel of my medical career. On its merits as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will at all times and under all circumstances act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who employs it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on the return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures—as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any means: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to woman not mentioned here, in which, as well as in the cases which I have mentioned, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm in any state or condition. It is A MOST POWERFUL RESTORATIVE TONIC to the general as well as the sexual system, also combining the most valuable nervine properties. Both the muscular and nervous forces are strengthened and built up by its use. It will be found invaluable in diseases incident to pregnancy, and can be taken in moderate doses with perfect safety while in that state. Indeed, it is a Mother's Cordial, and so prepares the system for parturition that it renders child-labor easy. I have received the heartfelt praise from hundreds of mothers for the inestimable benefits thus conferred.

I offer my Favorite Prescription to the Ladies of America with the sincerity of an honest heart, and for their best welfare. Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in my TREATISE ON CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE GENERATIVE AND URINARY ORGANS, sent entire from observation upon receipt of two postage stamps. It treats entirely on those diseases peculiar to Females; and gives much valuable advice in regard to their management.

A Pitiful Condition.

It is a sad thing to pass through life half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain; but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensuous pleasure. In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterward into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly resorted to,) but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question, founded on the unvaring experience of a quarter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time by administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by reinperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves Persevere until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pabulum which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished.

All persons using draft horses know how important it is to have the Collar fit easily, and to have this perfect a good Hame is necessary. Those interested will find a new hame at KELLEY & BROWNS', which is perfect in every respect, and which is well worth examining.

Mexican Mustang Liniment

For Man and Beast.

Probably few articles have ever had so extensive a sale, while none have been more universally beneficial than the celebrated Mexican Mustang Liniment. Children, Adults, Horses, and domestic animals, are always liable to accident, and it is safe to say, that no family can pass a single season without some kind of emoliment being necessary. It becomes a matter of importance then to secure the best.

Over three hundred livery stables in the city of New York alone are using the Mexican Mustang Liniment, in all of which it gives unusual satisfaction.

CAUTION.—The genuine is wrapped in a fine steel plate engraving with G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and Trade Mark, Mexican Mustang Liniment, engraved across the face of each wrapper. The whole bears the proprietor's private U S revenue stamp, and not a common stamp as used by druggists. Lyon Manufacturing Co., 53, Park Place, New York. no3—447-1y.

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man his own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine Holloway's Pills and Ointment will have this mark on it; none are genuine without it.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

ALL SORTS.

An Indiana paper alludes to the 'cycles of time that have rolled like millstones of damnation over the American people in all these twelve years.'

Some of the papers are criticising the rhetoric of a clergyman who has recently preached and published the following passage of the Red sea: 'The billows reared as God's hand pulled back upon their crystal bits.'

A proud father in England lately exclaimed to a school teacher as follows:—'What accounts for John being such a good schollar is that he's my son by my wife's first husband.'

A live frog was lately found in the middle of a beech tree, eighteen inches through, at Putney, Vt. He must have been a prisoner there for fifty years, and is therefore a pretty old frog.

A witness under cross examination, who had been tortured by a lawyer for hours, at last asked for a glass of water. 'There,' said the judge, 'I think you had better let that witness go now as you have pumped him dry.'

At an infant Sunday school the teacher gave the Bible story of the Prodigal Son. Wher he came to the place where the poor ragged son reached his former home, and his father saw him a great way off, he inquired what his father probably did. One of the smallest boys, with his fist clenched, said: 'I dunno, but dersay he set the dog on him.'

A little Sunday school scholar in Wisconsin was deluded into learning 3,730 verses in the Bible, in four weeks, by the promise of a book, They gave him "Hitchcock's Analysis of the Bible." He swapped it for a three bladed knife and a peck of hickory nuts.

The Savannah News says to a correspondent: "Your 'Sonnit to a Violet' is good; but it is an invariable rule among newspapers to publish no original poetry unless it is paid for in advance. Our usual price for original poetry is eight dollars a line, but as there are extenuating circumstances in your favor, we will print yours for seven and a half. We have unsurpassed facilities for doing this kind of work."

I have been a dyspeptic for two years; began to use Simmons' Liver Regulator two years ago; it has acted like a charm in my case. Rev. J. C. Holmes, Clayton, Ala.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment.—We stand aghast at the thousands hourly hurried to a premature grave, victims of having neglected the first symptoms of disease. Whether in the body, or be introduced accidentally through the skin—fatal results may be warded off by a timely recourse to one or both of these medicines. 25 cents a box or pot.

Loveliness on the Increase.—A marked increase of female loveliness is the eye delighting result of the immense popularity which Hagan's Magnolia Balm has obtained among the ladies of America. Complexions radient with snowy purity and tinged with the roseate hue of health are commonly met with wherever it is used. For the sallow and unwholesome appearance of the neck and face, which utterly counterbalances the effect of any personal attraction the owner may possess, it substitutes that clear, pearl like complexion which is such a transcendant charm in woman, and renders the roughest skin as soft as Genoa velvet. No one is more astonished than the person using it at the marvelous transformation which it effects in these particulars.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., sole proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, has for over three years offered, through nearly every newspaper in the United States, a standing reward of $500 for a case of catarrh in the head which he cannot cure. That he has treated thousands of cases and has no claim presented for the reward from any one who has made a thorough use of his means of cure, is strong and conclusive evidence that he possesses sure means of curing this loathsome disease. The catarrh remedy is sold by all druggists.

Things Have Changed—Consumption.—Hannibal and Cæsar won their victories and battles by the sword, the spear, and the battle axe. They never heard of gun powder. The man who would undertake to do what Grant did at Appomatox and with such implements of warfare as were used then, would deserve to be derided and laughed at; not because they were not used for the purpose then in view, but because, better and more powerful engines were known. We do not lose sight of what the past has done for medicine. The past hundred years has accomplished more toward the cure of consumption, than the five hundred years previously. It is common for people still to die of it. It will continue to be common just so long as people neglect to pay attention to the first symptoms or follow the rule of treatment in vogue a hundred years ago. Dr. Keyser of this city cures nearly every case of lung disease or chronic disease of any kind that he takes under treatment. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is as near a specific for consumption as any medicine can be. It will allay all the morbid irritability, quiet the cough, lessen the inflamation, expel the tough, viscid mucous that blocks up the air cells of the lungs, and give that plastic quality to the blood which it needs to fit it for the purposes of reparation. Ask for Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, at the Doctor's office, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburg. Single bottles $1,50, four bottles for $5. A pamphlet on chronic lung diseases sent free to any address.

Is a powerful tonic, peculiarly adapted for use in spring, when the languid and debilitated system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble strength to the weak; animation to the dejected activity to the weary quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris possesses the most powerful tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a specific in all cases of impurities of the blood, derangement of the liver and Spleen, tumors, dropsy, poverty of the blood, debility, weakness of the intestines, uterine or urinary organs.

Dr Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

It is strengthening and nurishing. Like nutricious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and, by its powerful tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

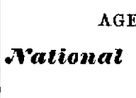
FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

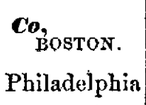
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.



To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.



In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c, this article acts as a specific. By putting from one half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

DR. WHITTIER

296 Penn St. Pittsburg, Pa.

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, AS DIPLOMA at office will show, has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Sexual and Private Diseases than any other physician in Pittsburg.

Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia or Rupture; all Urinary Diseases and Syphilitic or Mercurial Affections of the Throat, Skin or Bones are treated with unparalleled success.

Spermatorrhea, Sexual Debility and Impotency, as the result of self abuse in youth, sexual excesses in mature years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured. Sealed pamphlet relating to above sent for two stamps. Call or write, a friendly talk costs nothing. Medicine sent everywhere. It is self evident that a physician who treats thousands of cases every year acquires skill. Country physicians knowing this frequently recommend persons to my care.

MANHOOD! WOMANHOOD!

Who may Marry, who not, why. Send 25 cents. Full symptoms Chronic Diseases, 100 pages securely sealed. Address, Dr. WHITTIER, 296 Penn Street, Pittsburg, Pa. Ignorance kills more than war and pestilence combined.

ON MARRIAGE.

Essays for young men, on great Social Evils and Abuses, which interfere with Marriage—with sure means of relief for the Erring and Unfortunate, diseased and debilitated. Sent free in sealed envelopes. Address HOWARD ASSOCIATION, No. 2, S. Ninth st, Philadelphia, Pa. 412—1y

MANHOOD:

How Lost How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of spermatorrhea, or seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency physical and mental incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc; also consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in a sealed envelope, 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.

Also, Dr. Culverwell's Marriage Guide, Price 25 cents. Address the publishers,
